

Farmersville, Texas

Every good reason to live, work, play and enjoy life in Farmersville.

We are big enough to provide the perfect lifestyle and just small enough to provide a safe, quiet refuge with room to grow.

As with any hidden treasure, we are big enough to provide the perfect lifestyle by being small enough to adjust to your needs.

Located at the intersection of U.S. Highway 380 and State Highway 78, Farmersville rests in east Collin County. In 1849 settlers founded the community and named it after their principal occupation.

In 1857, the first post office was established "with Thomas E. Sherwood as its first postmaster." Shortly after, in 1859, the site of the town square was donated by William Gotcher. Once the town became incorporated in 1873, the community elected John S. Rike as their first mayor.

Spiritual life grew in abundance with the establishment of the Little Flock Primitive Baptist Church in 1855, First Methodist Church in 1856, and First Baptist Church in 1865. Today, over thirteen religious communities claim Farmersville as their home.

Preceding our public school system, "there were private schools in Farmersville as early as the 1860s," the first consisting of two teachers and 217 enrolled students. Public school became available in 1890 under the jurisdiction of Farmersville Independent School District. By 2012, the district housed over 1400 students on four campuses.

Early Farmersville "began as a trading center for the farmers who were rapidly settling the area. In the early days the settlement was a major railroad shipping point for cattle and bois d'arc posts. In later years, cotton, corn, and maize became major crops, along with onions and cantaloupes."

The weekly local newspaper, The Farmersville Times, was founded in 1885. Today it continues to provide news through both digital and hard copies.

First National Bank at Farmersville, now Independent Bank, was also established in 1885. First Bank of Trenton joined the Farmersville banking community after the year 2000, providing the community with two financial institutions.

"Growing steadily as a part of a rapidly expanding Collin County, Farmersville is a charter member city of the North Texas Municipal Water District and owner of its own electrical system." As of 2010, the population of Farmersville numbered 3301.

Reminiscent of early festivals, "Old Time Saturday" began its annual run in the fall of 1980 and continues its celebration the first Saturday of each October. During the month of June, Farmersville honors area veterans on "Audie Murphy Day." Audie

Murphy, the most decorated soldier of World War II, "lived and worked in Farmersville for a time before his entry into the United States Army and used his sister's address in Farmersville as his own."

Upon returning from military service, Audie Murphy walked the streets of Farmersville with Life magazine reporters, unveiling this Texas Treasure; Farmersville.

Opportunity for Growth

Farmersville is a growing treasure. Our steady economy, family-friendly neighborhoods, low crime rates, growing diversity, educational offerings with Collin County Community College expanding here on 76 acres, and plans already in place to build more schools on 50+ acres give us the edge with that still small hometown feel.

Median real estate prices are below the national average for industrial or small business spaces, and homes are available in all types and sizes. Rental properties are affordable, and you won't have a long commute in heavy traffic to reach major destinations for work or pleasure. We are committed to assist new or start-up businesses to operate and grow their businesses successfully through local resources and education seminars.

More than anything, the people of Farmersville are committed to the values of trust, honesty, and helpfulness, making it easy to settle in, to get acquainted, and to become an active and valued member of this community.

Business Environment

Attractive Business Climate

Collin County is one of the USA's wealthiest counties. It is the third fastest growing county in Texas and the thirteenth fastest growing county in the country.

Overall, the Texas economy continues to grow at nearly three times the national average. CNBC recently named Texas America's Top State for Business and overall best economy. Texas was also recently recognized by CEO magazine as the Best State to do Business for the third year in a row, and is now home to more fortune 500 companies than any other state in the nation. Last year, more than half of all new jobs created in the United States were created in Texas. (Sources From Gov. Rick Perry)

Right To Work State

Texas laws protect employees from threats, force, intimidation, or coercion for choosing to either participate or not participate in a union. In other words, the choice of whether to join a labor union is yours; you may not be required to join or pay dues to a union as a condition of employment, nor may you be denied employment because you have joined a union.

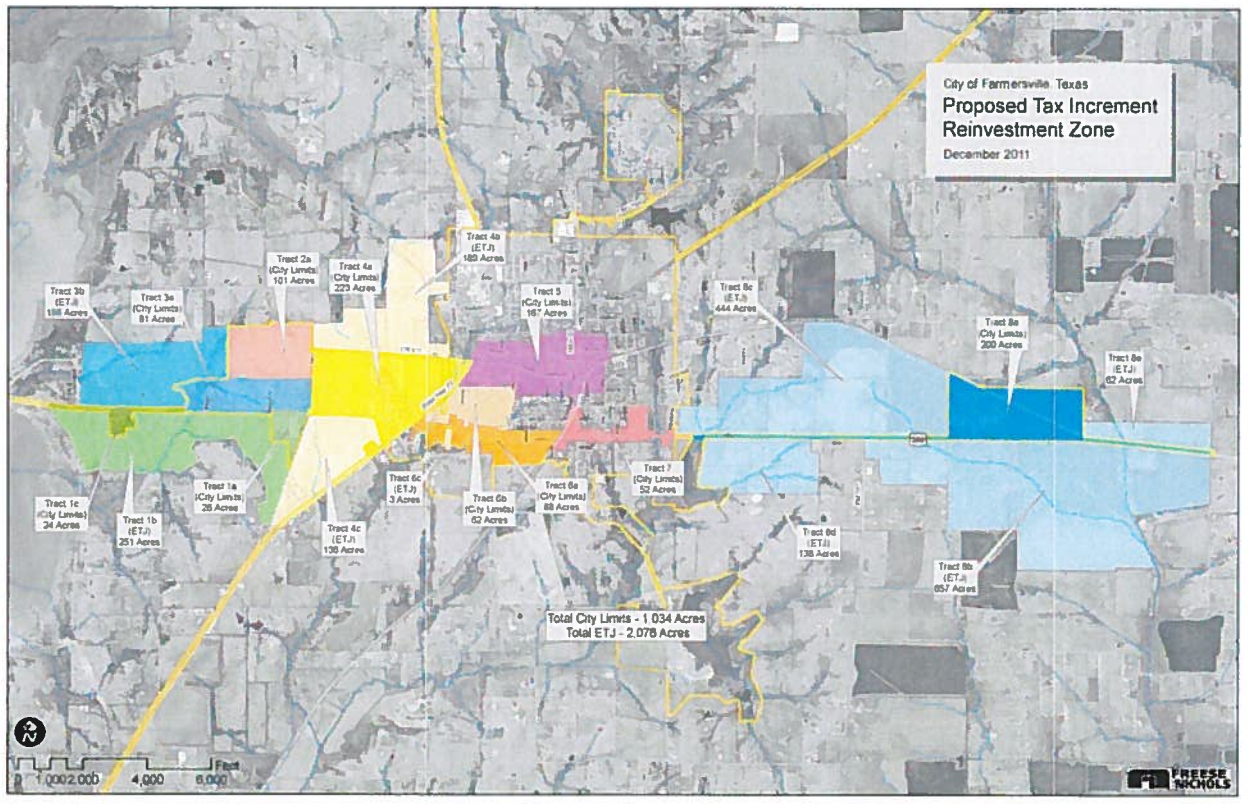

Access

A prime location for growth with easy access to other major interstates, state highways and major cities.
